3. Authorized purposes include:

- a. Brief messages home while TDY to notify family of official transportation or schedule changes.
- b. Personal communications most reasonably made from the workplace when such communications:
  - (1) do not adversely affect performance of official duties;
  - (2) are limited to reasonable amounts of time and, when possible, to personal, non-duty time;
  - (3) serve a legitimate public interest;
  - (4) do not reflect adversely on the U.S. Government; and,
- (5) do not result in significant additional costs to the Government or require system upgrade or expansion or overburden the communication system, and meet security considerations and requirements.
- 4. Deployed personnel and their family members may use Government telecommunications systems for morale purposes IAW AE Reg 25-22.
- 5. Unauthorized use of email and the Internet includes:
- a. Transmitting, storing, or copying obscene or sexually explicit information or pictures, e.g. pornography. This includes but is not limited to accessing, reading, downloading, and copying private or commercial information, web pages, shareware, and freeware from the Internet that is obscene, sexually explicit, illegal, or pornographic.
- b. Transmitting information that advertises or publicizes individual or non-Government groups that may gain a financial or competitive advantage or increased prestige.
- c. Transmitting or forwarding chain letters, personal announcements, or advertisement for the sale or solicitation of goods or services for personal gain.
- 6. Use of Government automation resources by an individual constitutes consent to being monitored. Unauthorized use of Government computers is considered abuse, and violators can face disciplinary (including UCMJ) and other adverse actions.
- 7. Current operations may necessitate the temporary elimination of the privilege of using Government computers for personal use to ensure maximum bandwidth is available.
